

[SOLVED] System bugs found and being addressed

Written by Michael Tunnell
Friday, 09 September 2011 06:25

Update: This issue has been solved and all users are able to upload contributions again.

We've recently reports about issues with Uploading images to the site and we want everyone to know that we are aware of these issues now and are in the process of solving this problem.

We can assure you that no information has been compromised or lost it is just a permissions error that is not letting some users upload their images.

We'd like to thank everyone who notified us about this issue and thank you for visiting/using WrestleMation.com

We apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused.